In the Specification:

The Abstract is below; once again this was done by the Electronic filing system set up by the USPTO at the time:

“The current invention is a Sports Fantasy Game based on the internet where each Sports Figure is broken into fantasy shares and then offered and traded like securities in a continuous auction and call market auction format. Players compete for prizes by assembling the largest portfolio of shares and collecting the most dividends or payouts (dividends) based on shares they own when the Sports Figure gets points or completes specific tasks in the actual game.”
